

SFBAC ONE DAY

VOICE STUDIO BUSINESS INCUBATOR

WITH MICHELLE MARKWART DEVEAUX

SFBAC voice teachers are experts at singing, gigging, repertoire, and education. Despite spending years and thousands of dollars to hone these skills, we often fail to receive any education or expertise in how to run our business well and the ways a micro business becomes profitable and enjoyable! SFBAC NATS has invited Michelle Markwart Deveaux to lead a very special day long event to engage you in a seminar that equips teachers with just that skill set:

- Gain a clear understanding of your ideal client and why having one is important
- Know the components your studio policies should cover and what is safe to leave out
- Understand the best way to structure your business for maximum revenue and impact
- Gain the mindset and tools to immediately implement new systems which will not only cover the cost of this event, but bring a hefty return on investment

Michelle Markwart Deveaux has worked with hundreds of voice related business owners, teaching best practices for running solid voice studios and more. Her passion is to equip our niche with the knowledge, systems, and savvy it takes to run solo and multi teacher voice studios in 2020. She draws the best out of participants with a combination of information, conversation, interactive exercises, and truth bombs.

Michelle has agreed to come and offer this seminar for us at a steep savings because the SFBAC was her original NATS chapter! At an investment of $300 for NATS members and $450 for non-members, she has generously offered to structure the fees of this event to allow SFBAC to make enough to invest back into the chapter!

Expect to leave with the mindset and tools to immediately implement new systems and not only cover the cost of these events, but bring a hefty return on investment. You won't regret this investment in yourself, your business, and your students!
